National Day of Mourning Event at Toronto Pearson Airport

By Laurel Woodhouse, H&S Manager

The Canadian Labour Congress established April 28th as the National Day of Mourning in Canada in 1984. The day is to remember and honour those who have had workplace injuries or illnesses, or died while on the job.

The date was chosen in 1984 because it coincided with the 70th anniversary of the day the first Ontario Worker's Compensation Act was approved by the government (1914). An Act of Parliament enshrined The Day of Mourning on February 1, 1991.

Also known as Workers' Memorial Day, The Day of Mourning, is officially recognized in about 100 countries worldwide.

Working Safely Outdoors: Toxic Plants In Ontario

By Sarah Miller, Operations Manager

Spring is here! The wind is warm, it's sunny all the way into the evening, cute animals are waking up from their winter hibernation, and the first flowers are emerging from the ground. It's a magical time of year. You are working outdoors as a security guard or canine handler and stop to admire a budding new plant. You pick it to take it home with you because it's pretty, but it burns. You wash your hands, but it keeps burning. Your skin turns red. A rash spreads. Oozing blisters form. It creeps up your arm. You go to the hospital. It still gets worse.

You've just touched a toxic plant.

Did you know that Ontario is home to many species of plants like this that are dangerous to touch, and while working outdoors there is a chance that you may encounter them?

ASP is here to help by sharing a list of the top four toxic plants that you are most likely to find while working outdoors in Ontario and explaining what to do if you accidentally touch them.

Reporting Sightings at Work

If you see one of these toxic plants at work please contact ASP promptly to report the hazard and do not touch it!

If you are unsure who to report hazards to, please contact your manager or the Health & Safety department at healthandsafety@security-asp.com.

#1 – Wild Parsnip (Pastinaca Sativa)

This tall, yellow-flowered plant causes phyto-photodermatitis. What this means is that when the sap of the plant gets on your skin and when exposed to ultraviolet light like the sun it causes a chemical reaction that creates burns and blisters. Pain from phyto-photodermatitis can last for years and create life-long scarring.

First aid: Wash the affected area immediately with soap and water and avoid further exposure to sunlight. Do not pop the blisters. Keep the area clean and sterilized to avoid infection. Use a cool, wet cloth for relief of symptoms.

#2 – Poison Ivy (Rhus Radicans)

This ground-hugging plant has a distinctive three-leaf cluster pattern and is the top cause of plant-related allergic contact dermatitis (skin inflammation) in Canada. Poison ivy is an oily plant and the oil causes painful irritation, rashes, and blisters that can develop over several hours or days.

First aid: Wash the affected area with soap and cool water because hot water will spread the oil. Do not touch anything else because it will become contaminated with the oil. Keep the skin clean and dry to minimize irritation and chance of infection.

#3 – Stinging Nettle (Urtica Dioica)

This leafy plant that tends to grow by water sources looks like it has very fine hairs on it. These hairs are delicate and hollow, and when touched they break and a toxic secretion from the plant travels up the core of the hair, entering the skin. It causes a painful stinging sensation. The sting is followed by redness, swelling, and itchiness that will last for several minutes.

First aid: Use a cool, wet cloth for relief. Aloe vera may also help. Avoid scratching and keep the area clean and sterilized to avoid infection. Wash the area well of infection.

#4 – Giant Hogweed (Heracleum Mantegazzianum)

This white-flowered plant is a relative of the wild parsnip and can grow to several meters tall. Just like the wild parsnip, it causes phyto-photodermatitis when its sap touches skin and the skin is then exposed to ultraviolet light. Pain and scarring can last for years after contact with the plant.

First aid: Wash the affected area immediately with soap and water and avoid further exposure to sunlight. Do not pop the blisters. Keep the area clean and sterilized to avoid infection. Use a cool, wet cloth for relief of symptoms.

A Farewell Retirement Message

By Debbie Ciccotelli, VP of Strategic Initiatives

The moment has come for me to turn the page to a new chapter in my life, as I announce my retirement effective May 31st. Reflecting on the journey we've traversed together in ASP fills my heart with both pride and gratitude.

Working with ASP is my third and final career. I began my career at the young age of 19 with Transport Canada at Toronto Pearson Airport and when the airport was privatized, I transitioned to the Greater Toronto Airports Authority. My last and final employer, ASP has been my all-time favorite.

I have known our CEO, Dean Lovric for over 25 years, and I think of him not only as a boss, but a friend as well. I am so thankful to have the chance to work alongside him. Dean's enthusiasm, motivation, passion, and support has been inspirational to me. He is a caring and supportive leader, which is one of the many things I love about him.

To my incredible colleagues, working with all of you has been truly inspiring. I have learned, grown, and shared many moments with you. I owe a debt of gratitude to all of you for the experiences we've shared together and the unwavering support I have received. It's not the projects or the deadlines that I'll remember most fondly, but the everyday moments of unity and shared purpose. Together we have combined forces to hit targets, win new business, innovate like wizards, and create a vibe that's nothing short of magical. I am proud of the excellent work we have accomplished together. You're the best bunch of colleagues anyone could ask for and although I am moving on, I carry with me found memories of you all.

I would like to give a special shout-out to my amazing team, Jason White and more recently Sarah Miller. It has been an incredible roller coaster ride with the numerous projects, long and tiring workdays and tight deadlines, but I am so proud of what we have accomplished together. Jason, you have left an indelible mark on my heart, even when times were tough, you made me laugh a little louder, smile a little brighter and live a little better. Fate made us teammates, but time has made us friends and the memories and experiences we shared will stay with me forever.

In my time at ASP, I have had the pleasure to mentor a number of people in the company. I wanted to share a little bit about this experience. In writing this message, it got me thinking about why mentoring is one of the things I am extremely passionate about. I have been extremely fortunate to have been mentored by some amazing people throughout my life. And they all made a significant impact on me, and I recognize how fortunate I was to have them - they helped to form my character and ultimately made me the person I am today. It was important to me to "pay it forward" and do for others what these individuals did for me. What I have come to realize after having been both a mentor and a mentee is that it doesn't matter which side you are on, there are lessons to be learned. I have learned just as many lessons from those who I have mentored as from those who have mentored me, and I encourage you all to seek out a mentor and to pay it forward as your career progresses.

To all the employees at ASP, I know that your work is not always easy, but always remember you are doing important work and each and every one of you makes a difference to the company, our clients and our customers.

To all the employees at ASP, I know that your work is not always easy, but always remember you are doing important work and each and every one of you makes a difference to the company, our clients and our customers. It's incredible how a group of people from such diverse backgrounds works so closely and well together. I am so proud of the excellent workforce we have at ASP.

I am writing this farewell message with deep emotions as I say goodbye to this incredible company. The memories and bonds we have formed mean the world to me. I look forward to watching the continued success of ASP from the sidelines with great admiration. I wish you all success in the future and I know you will rock the future.

Thank you and farewell!

From Recruitment to Talent Acquisition: A Strategic Rebranding Journey

By Fatema Pipalyawala, Talent Acquisition Lead

We are pleased to announce that, following thorough research and process improvements, our Recruitment Department has undergone a rebranding initiative and is now known as the Talent Acquisition Department. As part of this transition, Sean Gallagher has been promoted to the role of Senior Manager of Talent Acquisition & Development, while I, Fatema Pipalyawala, have been appointed as the Talent Acquisition Lead. Additionally, we welcome Kunal Sachdeva to our team as the coordinator.

The traditional recruitment department has long been associated with tasks such as hiring & onboarding in a stipulated time span. While these functions are undoubtedly crucial, they only scratch the surface of what a modern recruitment team can achieve.

By rebranding and realigning the focus towards acquiring and nurturing top talent, companies can position themselves for sustained success in today's competitive business landscape. It's not just a name change, it's a strategic imperative for driving growth, innovation, and organizational excellence. The shift towards a Talent Acquisition Department represents a broader recognition of the strategic importance of attracting, developing, and retaining top talent.

Most recently, the Talent Acquisition team achieved its first success with hiring 60+ candidates in under 2 weeks for the TTC Subway contract in March 2024. This contract provided us with a great opportunity to promote talent within the company. We are looking forward to more success stories this year!

Tips to Refer & Earn – Referral Bonus Policy

We have had numerous questions regarding how our Referral bonus process works so we wanted to take a few minutes to explain it and how it works.

Process:

- Your referral applies online at and they have the option to list a “referral” on the application. They need to list your name here or tell us you referred them during the interview (it is the first question we ask)
- If they are hired and successfully complete training, the person you referred will need to work a minimum of 2 shifts per week for 90 days
- As the person referring the new employee, you also need to work a minimum of 2 shifts weekly for 90 days (if you have a week of vacation that is fine and will not be held against you)
- Once the 90 days is completed, Talent Acquisition sends the notice to the accounting department on the first week of the following month (all referral notices are sent at the same time)

Eligibility:

To qualify for the referral bonus, the referred candidate must meet the following criteria:

1. Be hired as a regular employee of ASP Incorporated.
2. Successfully complete the probationary period of three (3) months;
3. Remain actively employed for a minimum of three (3) months from the date of hire (Cannot be on a leave of absence or not actively picking up shifts); and the referring Employee must also be actively working shifts.

- The referred candidate must be in an active contract, if the contract was/is terminated during the probationary period, the referral will not be eligible for payment.

Please note, if you have any questions or concerns about your referrals please only contact Sean Gallagher, Senior Manager- Talent Acquisition and Development at sean@security-asp.com.

Congratulations to Atinderpal Singh winner of a new TV for the most referrals.
